Newark, Ohio 43055

*"Driving the Aging Network
In the Statehouse,
In the Community & In the Home."*

Ohio Association of Senior Centers

The Ohio Association of Senior Centers, Inc. (OASC) was formed as a nonprofit organization in 1959 by a senior center director, Muriel Bertsch. OASC has become a forerunner in promoting senior centers through advocacy, professional development, communication and networking.

The leadership of OASC recognizes our differences in purpose and scope, but celebrates our common factor - the older adults we serve. For over sixty years, centers from every corner of the state have benefited from the efforts of this organization.

The mission of the Ohio Association of Senior Centers, Inc. is to strengthen senior centers and the senior community network throughout Ohio through advocacy, education, networking opportunities and technical assistance.

Welcome to the 65th Annual Spring Conference of OASC

The Ohio Association of Senior Centers (OASC) conference committee has selected an array of professional presenters/speakers that are charged with sharing their expertise to ensure you have a toolkit of ways to embrace change in this industry.

These stimulating sessions will provide you with an opportunity for enhanced learning through self-discovery, sharing and modeling practices to ensure you take your role as a professional to the next level.

By attending this conference, you will acquire practical solutions to challenging professional roles, develop and enhance your network of professionals within the state, and gather a plethora of new ideas.

We are looking forward to you joining us as we are "Embracing Change and Enhancing Lives" in 2024!

Conference Attire

The conference committee has worked hard to plan a conference that will be educational and relaxing. You are welcome to wear your comfy clothes to attend the daily workshops. It is recommended that you layer your clothing as room temperatures may vary.

With the exception of our special evening events planned for Wednesday and Thursday nights, we recommend "casual attire." If you are planning on attending the Wellness over 50 session please wear clothing you can move freely in and it is recommended to wear supportive footwear such as tennis shoes.

Ohio Association of Senior Center Certification Testing

Certifying your staff has many professional benefits. Certification provides assurance to clients and peers that you have reached a measurable level of professionalism and knowledge in the aging field, demonstrated a standard of competency for the benefit of members and the communities you serve.

A Study Session/Review & Testing for all OASC certification levels will be held on Wednesday, March 6, 2024 from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. Be sure to mark this on your registration form to reserve your place for the test. All results will be announced at the conference on Thursday during the annual meeting.

For more information on the benefits of certification contact the OASC Office.

CEU Processing Fee/Credits

By attending this conference you have the opportunity to acquire the following CEU's:

Social Workers—Pending

NCCAP—Pending

OASC Certification—10 CEU

Be sure to check off this section on your registration form and pay the $10 fee.

Friday, March 8, 2024

7:30 a.m.	BREAKFAST/Vendor Marketplace Open
8 to 9 a.m.	General Session: The Ethics of Artificial Intelligence: Opportunities and Potential Pitfalls Stefan Fritsch, PhD., Associate Professor BGSU Political Science Currently, artificial intelligence (AI) is one of the hottest topics in science, technology, and innovation. AI has spread to literally every aspect of our lives. Examples include personal assistants like Siri or Alexa, but also self-driving cars, Internet search engines, email-spam filters, smart home devices, investment algorithms, facial recognition, medical diagnosis and many other applications. AI is predicted to transform our society as dramatically as the steam engine, electricity, or the Internet have done before. As with any new technology, public discourse oscillates between euphoria and anxieties, pros and cons, advantages and negative side effects of AI. This presentation will focus on the ethical dilemmas (global) society faces in its quest to harness AI's potentials.
9 to 9:10 a.m.	BREAK/Vendor Marketplace Open
9:10 to 10:10 a.m.	Breakout Sessions: Senior Center of the Year Presentation
Programs & Services:	Enhancing Senior Centers through Recruitment and Retainment of Volunteers Diane Lancour, Executive Director, Palatine Township Senior Citizens Council Older adults bring a world of knowledge & experience as volunteers. Agencies should create volunteer descriptions for specific positions and pull from those experiences in order for the volunteer to share their knowledge. It is key to for all centers to utilize the available volunteer recruitment and informational agencies as a tool to aid your agencies fulfillment of volunteers. Regardless of the volunteers age, people want to be acknowledged and feel like they make a difference. This session will provide you some tools on ways to capture the right fit for your volunteers and will share ways on how to encourage them to stay committed to your agency.
10:10 to 10:20 a.m.	BREAK
10:20 to 11:20 a.m.	General Session: Washington Update and OAAA Renewal: If the mission expands, what role should Senior Centers play? Richard Browdie MBA, FGSA Discuss the national trends in aging and how they are impacting the service network, along with the evolving systems of financing health and social services for older people, leading to new needs among older people. We will discuss the current models of senior centers and their impact, anticipate the re-authorization of the Older Americans Act, as well as the need to embrace change.
